Expand the discussion started in the first and second drafts by bringing in a minimum of three outside sources, besides Paulo Freire's "The 'Banking' Concept of Education," into the conversation. These sources can include our readings, or can be located independently by the student. They should work to strengthen the argument presented in the second draft.

At least one source needs to come from a database.

This assignment asks you to apply the critical source material in elaborating a critical perspective on your education and on education in general.

In-text and end-of-text citation, formatted in MLA style, is required.
