This draft expands the First Draft by taking into account the ideological bias behind fake news stories. That is to say, for what reason or reasons did the author distort or fabricate news? How does the story attempt to influence the thinking of its audience? Find and examine a few other fake news stories that confirm similar ideological biases. While, of course, these stories serve as clickbait to collect advertisement money, the focus should be on how they produce “ideology,” as Anandi Ramamurthy defines the term.

There should be both in-text and end-of-text citation.
