"The common man is not concerned about the passage of time, the man of talent is driven by it." - Arthur Schopenhauer

DO YOU WANT TO BE COMMON, OR DO YOU WANT TO BE A PERSON OF TALENT? IT'S YOUR CHOICE.

COURSE DESCRIPTION

Interaction of man with companion, domestic, and wild animals. Consideration of wide ranging societal concerns including food production, companionship benefits, impact of wild animals in urban and rural settings, animal and human disease risks, and animal welfare and rights issues.

COURSE LEARNING OBJECTIVES

- Explore the human interaction with animals including companion, domestic, and wild
- Investigate the definitions of animal welfare and animal rights
- Describe the pros and cons of a controversial animal issue in animal science.
- Develop an open mindedness to critically evaluate production practices from different points of view.
- Communicate effectively in a professional matter, using clear writing skills.

COURSE TEXT and OTHER MATERIALS

- The class will use Western Online for distribution of course materials. Outlines and/or PowerPoint Presentations for class will be posted on this page in Adobe Acrobat (*.pdf) format.
- Animals Make Us Human – Temple Grandin (recommended)
- The Latte Factor – David Bach (required)

This syllabus is subjective to change as the course progresses.

COURSE EXPECTATIONS

In this course, I expect you to expand upon your basic animal knowledge and to critically examine the topic of this course with an unbiased mindset. In the end, you will be able to explain the basics of the animal interaction with humans to individuals with differing views.

COURSE POLICIES AND PROCEDURES

I expect you to attend every class on time and be ready to effectively contribute. In order to help prepare you for post-graduation responsibility, I will not accept late assignments or provide make-up tests, homework, quizzes, projects, or etc. A lecture exam exception may be made only with University recognized emergency (instructor must be notified within 24 hours of exam date and time) or official school business if instructor is notified at least one week in advance. In order to provide course accessibility, lecture material will be distributed on Western Online. Please make it your responsibility to check Western Online before each lecture for any updates that may occur. There may be times when assignments or quizzes are presented online or in class without prior notice. This is to insure your attendance in lecture and ensure that you are taking responsibility for your learning in the course. If you choose to miss class or forget to check the course Western Online which results in missed graded points, you will not be given an alternative assignment. If an extended absence or an excused absence is necessary, course material you have missed is your responsibility. Course will be livestreamed via zoom, recorded and posted to Western Online. Students who miss class will be held to the same deadlines as those in class. For assignments turned due in class, students not present in class will be required to turn those assignments in online the general assignment folder unless a specific folder is assigned on Western Online.

Attendance will be taken on occasion in lecture. Each unexcused absence will result in a ten point reduction in overall final score in the course.

Students with disabilities: In accordance with University values and disability law, students with disabilities may request academic accommodations where there are aspects of a course that result in barriers to inclusion or accurate assessment of achievement. To file an official request for disability-related accommodations, please contact the Disability Resource Center at 309-298-2512, disability@wiu.edu or in 143 Memorial Hall. Please notify the instructor as soon as possible to ensure that this course is accessible to you in a timely manner.

Maintaining high ethical standards is of utmost importance, not only for this class, but as a student, in a professional career, and in your personal life. I expect everyone in this class to uphold Code of Student Conduct in Student Handbook and be familiar with all applicable policies including but not limited to academic dishonesty and disruptive behavior. Any breach of this code will result in, at minimum, a failing grade for the course. To access the Policy, please visit <http://www.wiu.edu/policies/acintegrity.php> In addition, students have certain rights and responsibilities to be aware of as seen online at: <http://www.wiu.edu/provost/students.php>. Tobacco use of any form is not allowed during class and texting is prohibited. No animals except for service animals are allowed in lecture class or lab.

University values, Title IX, and other federal and state laws prohibit sex discrimination, including sexual assault/misconduct, dating/domestic violence, and stalking. If you, or someone you know, has been the victim of any of these offenses, we encourage you to report this to the Title IX Coordinator at 309-298-1977 or anonymously online at: http://www.wiu.edu/equal_opportunity_and_access/request_form/index.php. If you disclose an incident to a faculty member, the faculty member must notify the Title IX Coordinator. The complete Title IX policy is available at: <http://www.wiu.edu/vpas/policies/titleIX.php>.

Students should have coverage for major medical, surgical and emergency expenses, either through their parents/guardians, or a personal health insurance policy. WIU Health Services provides outpatient medical attention to all students; additional health services are available at a low cost.

OFFICE HOURS

I am very happy to meet with you during office hours and to confer with you by email (please use your wiu.edu address). If your schedule prohibits you from attending my office hours, please make an appointment or if my door is open just stop by. Please come prepared and it always to best to come before you have a serious problem. You will find that if you put forth a deserving positive effort, I will do my absolute best to help you succeed.

At the end of the quarter, grade percentage breaks may be lowered, but never raised.

Attention Education Majors:

The changes within the state teaching license require all education majors to receive a grade of a "C-" or better in this course in order to meet these new requirements. With the university +/- grading system, receiving a "D+" or below will require you to retake this course or find a substitute course to meet School of Agriculture graduation requirements.
